Many wish requests coming too late

Notice that the number of completed wishes remained lower the past couple of years. This is mainly due to wish requests being received so late that the potential recipient is too sick or weak to travel. Several additional requests over the past couple of years were declined for this reason. When considering a request, think carefully about how much time the patient has realistically and please call as soon as possible. When dealing with end-of-life clients, time is truly of the essence. Thank you.
